

---

First Nations &
Indigenous Studies
SPEAKERS SERIES

---

Why I Went to Standing Rock

Reflections from an Air Force Veteran and Climate Warrior

4:30 p.m., Wednesday, February 8, 2017
De Witt Lecture Hall, Zabriskie 106

There will be a light meal to share at 5:30. This event is co-sponsored by the Center for Sustainability and the Environment.

Colleen Boland is a “front line” climate activist. She is on the steering committee member for We Are Seneca Lake, an ongoing civil disobedience movement focused on protecting this natural resource, and co-founder of Elmirans and Friends Against Fracking.

Last fall, Colleen joined fellow military veterans joining their voices with the Standing Rock Sioux tribe in peaceful protest of the Dakota Access pipeline.

Wells College