

Sustainability Perspectives

Organic Gardening: Why it Matters and How to Do It (or How Every Gardener Can Be Organic)

Rosalyn Swann Bass '58, founded Rosalyn's Garden, the oldest and largest certified organic farm in New Hampshire. Ms. Bass still works the farm with the same enthusiasm as when she planted the first seeds 41 years ago. Her new book, "Organic: A Gardener's Handbook", is full of practical advice perfect for backyard gardeners as well as farmers who are looking for guidance on organic growing. Rosalyn writes: "I want people to understand that they too can grow organic. I've learned so much, how to do things smarter, better. I want to share that with others."

Wednesday, February 4, 2015 ~ 12:30 – 1:30PM
Stratton Hall Room 209

This Sustainability Perspectives series event is free and open to the public. The series explores the concept of sustainability from a variety of viewpoints.

Wells is committed to providing access to all events; anyone needing assistance should contact Marian Brown, Center for Sustainability and the Environment, at 315-364-3304 or by email at mbrown@wells.edu, as soon as possible.

The education of an extraordinary life.