INTRODUCTION

Biographical Note At their graduation in 1923, five Wells Women started a Round-Robin letter, called "the Meow", and kept it going for more than fifty years. The letters in this collection were written by Mary F. Hale. Each time the Meow reached her, she took out and kept her old letter and wrote a new one. The other four members of the group were: Constance Brown, Elsie Browning, Julia Phough, and Margaret Wyer.
