

Anna Swenson is the customer and communications manager at Recompose, where she leads marketing, public policy, and community outreach for the green death care organization.

From LinkedIn:

Anna earned a Bachelor of Arts in English Language and Literature from Arizona State University.

Wells students should appreciate the value of internship experiences Anna has had:

While at Arizona State, Anna was a Public Relations Intern, helping event staff plan and promote the Fiesta Bowl. She also served as an HR Communications intern for a software company. Before landing at ReCompose, Anna worked in employment roles as diverse as a public relations account executive, freelance writer, PR consultant, media strategist, and as the writer of a weekly column titled “Glass Slippers, Glass Ceiling” on being a young, female professional.

Anna is originally from Arizona and enjoys house plants, tide pools, and cooking.