Gardening in a Changing Climate

Donna Levy is the Environmental Education Outreach Coordinator for the Cornell Botanic Gardens. Most are aware that the earth's climate is changing. What do these changes mean for our locale? How are our gardening efforts affected? Explore ways that you can adapt to these changes to make your gardens successful. This presentation about plants and gardening also emphasizes how gardening can be used as an educational tool to respond to climate change in our everyday lives.

Monday, September 25, 2017 from 12:20 – 1:20PM
deWitt Lecture Hall, Zabriskie Hall Room 106

All Sustainability Perspectives series events are free and open to the public.
The series explores the concept of 'sustainability' from a variety of viewpoints.

Wells is committed to providing access to all events; anyone needing assistance should contact Marian Brown, Center for Sustainability and the Environment, at 315-364-3304 or by email at mbrown@wells.edu, as soon as possible.
